Any event or loss. One team. One point of contact.

When construction incidents or losses occur, our multi-disciplinary experts draw upon their collective expertise to provide a consolidated and simplified response team.

Our industry-leading forensic consultants and engineers offer consultation and certainty through the many unknowns that arise in complex construction projects.

Whether it be causation, property damage assessments, schedule delay analysis, scope review, or expert witness services, our team can assist with all stages of construction.

EXPERIENCE YOU CAN TRUST

Envista's construction team comprises seasoned subject matter experts with vast backgrounds across all areas of the construction process. Our experts are experienced design professionals, project and construction managers, builders, and contractors providing clients the inherent knowledge and skills to ensure certainty in their expert opinions.

We can assemble the right team to support clients on any construction incident or loss no matter the size, type, speciality, severity, or location. Envista has some of the most regarded experts in their field who have devoted their entire careers to aiding clients in the most common to the most unique type of assignments.

Envista's construction team has a national footprint across Australia, as well as access to a global team of construction consultants, forensic engineers, and restoration experts to provide a full suite of multidisciplinary solutions.
